Exhibition Dates 26 April - 23 June 2012

In recent years Sydney has celebrated new and upgraded Parks, Cycleways and Rain Gardens, with some parks being upgraded for the first time in 100 years. The fifth exhibition in our ongoing series Art + Architecture will present selected projects by 12 Sydney Architectural Companies - ASPECT Studios, Clouston Associates, HASSELL, James Mather Delaney Design, Jane Irwin Landscape Architects, KI Studio, McGregor Coxall, Oculus, Phillips Marler, Spackman Mossop Michaels, Sue Barnsley Design and Taylor Brammer.

Green is all about keeping the city in balance; it is about the way we live, work and play. If we get the environment right, expand our urban forest with new parks, cycle ways, rain gardens and upgrade existing green spaces and public playgrounds, people feel at home and encouraged to connect with their local community. In a happy community the economy will thrive and the support for art and culture will increase. The city becomes a place people want to be during the week and also during the weekend.
